

Julia Donaldson

This is a virtual event and you have to register for it in advance.

According to the Trust the preparations for it have been going on for quite some time now. Kate, the new children's programme assistant, has been busy making signs with animal noises for the event, and they have had to make sure that the Gruffalo will find the venue, make sure everybody knows that they can submit questions for Julia before and during the event.

If you are planning to watch the event with children – either at home or at school – then the Trust hope that you have been making signs with them too to participate in the event!

You are encouraged to read What the Ladybird Heard, as Julia will be talking about it. Should you miss the live event, then you can see it again here.
