

Rob Edwards : OBJECTIONS TO THE NEW GAS-FIRED POWER STATION AT COCKENZIE

Scottish Power want to build a gas-fired power station at Cockenzie, to the east of Edinburgh, which does not meet the demands of carbon capture according to the three environmental groups who are objecting to the plans.

Rob Edwards writes in The Herald about this, but you can read it on his blog