

The Spice Pavilion

Well we ask you to go and try this restaurant out. This is a food emporium which deserves to have a waiting list for tables and a queue at the door. It is light and bright with modern fittings.

The Reporter tried out some vegetarian dishes which were exquisitely presented.

The cuisine is 'North Western Indian frontier'.

They have just opened very recently and are offering a 25% discount on meals. They also do a business lunch for a fairly keen £8.95 from 12 till 2. You can book a table online as well as having a look at their menus. The website is www.thespicepavilion.com
