

Calling all Edinburgh metallers!

✖ If you like your music loud and frenetic, and your men hairy, look no further than five-piece metallers Battle of the War Machines (BOTWM).

The band, made up of Bryan, Mark, Bill, Dod and Kev, are playing at Edinburgh's Banshee Labyrinth on Saturday September 18th.

BOTWM hail from Kirkcaldy in Fife and are a metal band with big aspirations. The band is currently working on a full length album set for release in November. They have followers from as far away as New Zealand and count Megadeth's Dave Ellefson among their fan base. Also at the gig will be bands Test of an Empire and Town Called Hell. Log on to www.battleofthewarmachines.com