

'Unmissable' seminar – get along and polish up your Powerpoint!

In a Scotland exclusive, Kingsway Management Services based at the Midlothian Innovation Centre in Roslin, have completed last minute preparations for a 'not to be missed' seminar on November 10th 2010 with internationally renowned presentations expert, and Microsoft advisor, Robert Lane of Aspire Communications from Arizona, USA.

Earlier today, Andrew Hayes from Kingsway Management Services detailed the background of the partnership opportunity: "It is an honour to have Mr Lane speaking in Scotland for the first time as part of a UK wide tour, to introduce his powerful presentation techniques which are applicable to both the business and academic fraternity".

In this unique seminar, participants will learn invaluable tips for creating highly visual and flexible PowerPoint presentations that are guaranteed to give a competitive edge in any marketplace. The seminars teach practical strategies, which anyone can master, for reaching audiences more clearly, effectively, and profitably.

This will be true in any type of presentation you run for your staff, business partners, clients or customers. We've all been there, spending hours creating and practicing our PowerPoint presentations only to have them 'crash and burn' when we least expect it. Well fear not!

If you are tired of sleep-inducing PowerPoint performances with grey matter destructive transitions/ endless bullet points and you need the freedom to be engaging or conversational with audiences, plus have the ability to seamlessly change focus as necessary, then this one day seminar is perfect for you.

Book your place now.

This seminar is limited to 35 people.

Register

here:

<http://www.aspirecommunications.com/Edinburgh2010.html>

View this document on Scribd