

Hard Rock's Legendary Burger in Edinburgh

✖ The Hard Rock Cafe is a real institution. They have fans who travel the world in search of T-shirts and pins just to say that they have been to a Hard Rock in a certain place. One of the great things in the George Street Hard Rock is that you can track the whereabouts of all the pieces of memorabilia which decorate all of the restaurants world-wide. So you can search where Elton John's piano is at the moment just by clicking on the photo on the interactive screen. Ringo Starr's leather jacket is on show in Edinburgh along with a load of other notable rock items.

✖ In celebration of its 'Legendary Burger' range, a firm favourite with all visitors to Hard Rock Cafes around the world, Hard Rock Cafe Edinburgh have announced details of their 'Another Legendary Performance' competition. Their local legendary burger is a 10 oz burger topped with a fresh local haggis finished with 2 slices of mulled cheddar. And let us just say that it is delicious when accompanied by mushrooms...as our server, David, recommended to us.

Lesley Ross the Sales and Marketing Manager met us to take us through the Hard Rock experience, and we should say that we have rarely met anyone who is so genuinely enthused with their job. Did you know that all the sauces used in the restaurant are actually made daily in the restaurant? Not the cheapest burger we have had, but certainly ranks up there as one of the very juiciest and best!

From 10 January to 27 February, guests at Hard Rock Cafe Edinburgh who order a Legendary Burger along with a cool Budweiser will get the chance to win a VIP trip for two to Hard Rock Calling!

This three-day event, which takes place in London's Hyde Park 24-26 June, has already confirmed Bon Jovi as one of the headliners and will be adding more exciting acts over the coming months. Hard Rock Calling is the UK leg of Hard Rock's annual Ambassadors of Rock global series of shows.

The Legendary Experience
