

Edinburgh Jobs – Learning Coordinator, Scottish National Portrait Gallery

✘ The Scottish National Portrait Gallery will be up and running again soon. In the meantime they are looking for a Learning Coordinator. Apply before Friday 11 February 2011. This is what the advert says:-

*SCOTTISH NATIONAL PORTRAIT GALLERY
LEARNING CO-ORDINATOR (BAND 5)
FULL-TIME, FIXED-TERM TWO YEARS AND SIX MONTHS*

Salary: £25,200.00 – £30,959.00 per annum

An excellent opportunity has arisen for a Learning Co-ordinator to join our award-winning Education Department at the Scottish National Portrait Gallery (SNPG). You will be responsible for the development, delivery and promotion of learning programmes for two key National Galleries of Scotland (NGS) audiences: families (including children aged 3-16) and community groups (including disability access groups). You will be required to manage the education spaces at the SNPG and to liaise with other NGS educators regarding their SNPG programmes for other audiences.

Educated to degree level in the Arts, or equivalent, you will have experience of project-managing learning programmes and resources for families and children, or communities, ideally including online initiatives. You will possess enthusiasm, creativity and a strong commitment to gallery education.

Closing date: 11 February 2011
