

Strange Theatre presents 'Mother, à la carte'

This play should attract men, women, mothers young and old, groups of friends enjoying a mum's night out, or anyone wanting to enjoy an entertaining lunch hour together. Grown up children may like to treat their mums to a play and a meal, and it will also appeal to anyone who has lost their mum and might like a moment to reflect on them.

It is a personal exploration of the mother and daughter relationship at the Word of Mouth Café for an afternoon or evening of feasting and theatre where Liberty Des Roches-Dueck will dissect and serve up her mother in an insightful and uplifting performance in honour of the 100th anniversary of International Women's Day.

Performing at Word of Mouth Cafe (3a Albert Street, Edinburgh EH7 5HL) at 1pm and 7pm on Tuesday 8th March (International Women's Day) and Sunday 3rd April (Mother's Day). Running time 45 minutes. Tickets: £6 / £5 (conc.) available from Word of Mouth Café – 0131 554 4344 or to find out more visit <http://www.wofmcafe.com/Welcome.html>

This year marks the 100th Anniversary, of International Women's Day which has now become a global event.

On the 8th of March, people around the world will be creating and attending events that raise political and social awareness of struggles faced by women and celebrating the collective power of women past, present and future.
