

Five things you need to know today

The lovely flowers were all over the place at The Hub on Wednesday when the official Festival programme was launched. Lots of lovely concerts, opera and theatre on offer. You can get a programme from The Hub or online.

The acting Chief Executive of Edinburgh Zoo has been suspended following anonymous allegations made against him. The BBC report that this is to allow for investigations to be made.

The Council have launched a survey on how they dealt with the severe weather – and they want you to contribute your views. More information here.

Ceilidh Culture gets underway today. This is one of the festivals in Edinburgh that really does not get enough attention! A celebration of traditional arts music and culture. Go get some tickets!

Ceilidh Culture booking information: Book by phone – Lines are open Monday to Saturday 10am-5.30pm, Telephone: 0131 228 1155

Book in person – Monday to Saturday 10am-5.30pm, Usher Hall, Lothian Road, Edinburgh EH1 2EA
Selected tickets can be booked online.

The Hard Man is being staged at The King's from 31 March. We told you a little about it here but now there is a video....