

Lenny Henry coming to Edinburgh

✘ Lenny Henry returns to his musical roots in his new one man comedy

show

Cradle To Rave

Tues 26th April 2011 – Festival Theatre, Edinburgh

Music has always been a huge part of Lenny's life and it was impersonating Stevie Wonder that first catapulted him into the entertainment industry in 1975. Lenny won the New Faces talent show at 16 years old and has been a comedian ever since.

An accomplished comedian, actor, writer, TV presenter and fund-raiser, Lenny still cites his first love as music.

Cradle To Rave which Lenny co-wrote with Jon Carter, will take audiences on a voyage through the decades exploring the exact role music has played in his life and continues to play. It is a touching journey but, in true Lenny style there are plenty of laughs and lots of funky tunes.

The show is a departure from Lenny's last critically acclaimed performance playing Othello in Northern Broadsides award winning Shakespeare production.

Listings:

Edinburgh, Festival Theatre

Lenny Henry – Cradle to Rave

Tue 26 April

7.30pm

Tickets £25.50

Box Office: 0131 529 6000/<http://www.festivaltheatre.org.uk>