

Trees for 2nations at the Botanics

✖ by Thomas Haywood

Earlier this month at the Royal Botanical Gardens in Edinburgh the American Consul, Dana Linnet & the Cabinet Secretary for Rural Affairs and the Environment, Richard Lochhead, helped to launch Trees for 2 Nations.

This is an initiative linking a new partnership between the RBGE and the Knoxville Tennessee Botanical gardens.

The aim is to exchange knowledge and to work together to enable survival of rare trees in both countries. The consul and the minister are seen here planting a rare Arran Rowan tree. The event was also attended by an invited audience & the RBGE staff.

✖ Thomas Haywood Photography

25 Polwarth Crescent 2f1

Edinburgh

EH11 1HR

Mobile +44 7968 085609

Photos@thomashaywood.com

Flickr: polwarthpics