

bmi Regional increase number of flights from Edinburgh

✖ bmi Regional have announced that increased services from Edinburgh to Copenhagen, Edinburgh to Zurich and Glasgow to Copenhagen will operate from the beginning of June until 28 August 2011.

The airline is increasing services on key routes from Edinburgh and Glasgow this summer, enabling it to satisfy growing corporate and leisure demand.

Showcasing the airline's commitment to Scotland, bmi Regional is adding additional frequencies between Edinburgh and Copenhagen (Friday and Sunday) and between Edinburgh and Zurich (Monday and Friday). An additional Saturday flight between Glasgow and Copenhagen is also added from 3 June until 28 August 2011.

The additional flights will benefit both business and leisure travellers providing convenient connections between Scotland and key European cities.

The only regional airline flying in the UK to offer the speed and comfort of an all-jet fleet, bmi regional offers competitive business and economy fares, with complimentary catering on board and no charges for baggage or seat selection. Lounge facilities are available to all Business fare passengers as well as bmi Diamond Club frequent flyer members with Gold and Silver status. The airline prides itself on the punctuality offered to its customers and has been officially recognised as the UK's most punctual airline by the CAA for six consecutive years.

Steven Griffiths, Business Director, bmi Regional commented:-

"As the home of bmi Regional, we are strongly committed to Scotland and adding extra rotations to these popular routes from Edinburgh and Glasgow will help meet the increasing demand from corporate and leisure customers this summer.”

bmi Regional offers flights from key UK airports including Aberdeen, East Midlands, Edinburgh, Glasgow, Leeds Bradford, Manchester and Norwich to destinations across the UK and Europe. Book online at www.flybmi.com