

Competition – Win 2 Tickets for ‘Opera at The Met’

We have two tickets for the performance of Anna Bolena by  Donizetti being shown at 6pm at The Cameo on Tuesday 18 October 2011 to give away.

This is the first opera in the series of Encore shows at The Cameo to be shown over the winter. These are High Definition repeat screenings of opera staged by The Metropolitan Opera in New York, so not exactly live, but a recording of a live performance.

You would have to be a bit of an opera buff as the length of the programme is 240 minutes!

All you have to do is answer this question:-

How many performances will the Cameo show this winter from The Metropolitan Opera in their Encore series?

Send your answers with Competition : Anna Bolena in the subject line to us before 30 June 2011 and then the first correct answer picked at random from all the correct answers will win the tickets. The tickets can then be collected from The Cameo direct.