

Tune into Edinburgh Radio here!

✖ The Reporter came across Edinburgh Radio quite recently by a happy internet surfing accident. We did not know that it existed till now, but plan to tune in much more often. The radio station is to be found only on the internet at the moment but they have big plans to get an FM licence from Ofcom so that they will be accessible to radio listeners too.

Edinburgh Radio DJs The Sheriff and on the right Malkie B

Edinburgh Radio is the brainchild of Malkie B who is also one of the four DJs who work tirelessly spinning the decks and seeking out new artists and new music. We asked the entrepreneur to tell us all about the venture into radio:-

The station offers a platform for the unsigned bands to sell their music through their Amazon shop.

You can find out more about the guys at Edinburgh Radio and follow them on Facebook or on Twitter

Edinburgh Radio is good at making friends. As well as their 5000 listeners they have made Mix It Up Radio their sister radio station and you can listen to that Australian station through your phone by way of Streamfinder. All this new technology is a bit overwhelming!

Since our recent interview with Malcolm we are really excited to have become the featured local news outlet on the Edinburgh Radio website. Just click on the Local News tab on the front page and you will find yourself right back here! We love the tab with 'Things to do While you Listen' – especially as we are already fans of the FlightRadar24 website ourselves!
