

Boyzone at Hopetoun House – tickets still available

For the first time in its 300 year history, the five-star 17th century stately home is opening its gates to major music acts since it signed a five-year deal with promoters CK Events.

Speaking ahead of the event, Ronan Keating revealed that the band is looking forward to its Edinburgh concert:-

“We can’t wait to return to Edinburgh and to perform to our Scottish fans. The audience is always great and give us such a warm reception.

“We still remember the audience reaction when we were in Edinburgh in 2008, they were brilliant. We’re hoping to get a repeat of that on Saturday.

“We’ve a few surprises lined up and it’s sure to be a fantastic show with performances of some of our classic hits and tracks from our new album.”

A small allocation of tickets is still available from Ticketmaster on 08444 99 99 90 or online: www.ticketmaster.co.uk
