

A Streetcar named Desire? – A talk about trams 10 October 2011

The Royal Scottish Society of Arts is hosting a talk on Monday evening all about trams.

“A Streetcar Named Desire?

What the Edinburgh Trams fiasco teaches us about our attitudes to transport and the cities we live in.”

The talk will be delivered by Professor Iain Docherty BSc PhD CMILT of The University of Glasgow Business School at the Augustine United Church on George IV Bridge.

Here is the Society's invitation to you to join them.

Royal Scottish Society of Arts