

Edinburgh Hotel offering a very special discount

The Edinburgh Minto Hotel is offering a helping hand to parents whose child is attending the Royal Hospital for Sick Children in Scotland's capital, by offering a special discounted room rate.

The Royal Hospital for Sick Children sees over 100,000 children pass through its doors each year from across the east of Scotland. The hospital provides care for children from birth to around 13 years of age and assists with everything from cancer help to scoliosis surgery as well as having an accident and emergency facility.

Tracey Robertson, the Edinburgh Minto Hotel's general manager said: "We really want to help out parents who have to travel from further afield whilst their child is seeking treatment at the Sick Kids in Edinburgh. We'll give them a very comfortable place to stay in our boutique hotel, which is really close to the hospital and within walking distance. We'll make sure they're well looked after during what is a very stressful and emotional time for families."

The Edinburgh Minto Hotel will offer parents a 25% discount off the advertised room rate and this is available all year round, subject to room availability and their child seeking medical help at the Royal Hospital for Sick Children in Edinburgh.
