

Thistle Street goes pink!

The traders in Thistle Street dressed up in pink earlier today in recognition of Breast Awareness Month

The Breakthrough Breast Cancer Scottish head Office is located in Thistle street and they all wanted to show their support.

The charity explained the reason behind their Go Pink campaign :-“By Going Pink you will be helping the nearly 48,000 women and 300 men who are diagnosed with breast cancer each year in the UK. You will be helping to fund world class research at Europe’s only research centre dedicated to breast cancer research, plus our research units and campaigning and education work. You will be helping to fund a future free from the fear of breast cancer.”

There are lots more photographs of Thistle Street this morning on the Breakthrough Breast Cancer Scotland Facebook page.