

Afternoon Tea at The Howard

Do you sometimes sit with a friend chatting over a cup of tea wondering why certain things happen in life? Do ever fancy having your 'cards' read and not sure where to look? Then The Howard's Afternoon Tea Club is the place to go.

On Saturday, 25 March 2012, professional tarot card reader, Pam Strachan, will undertake a 10 minute reading for each guest.

Pam's readings have been described as 'inspiring, encouraging and reassuring' – and always fun! She said: 'It is important that guests understand the cards don't always predict your future. I use the wisdom of the Tarot to give honest, intuitive readings, which can help with decision making.'

'I think this a lovely introduction for those who may not have experienced a reading before, it will give everyone something to chat about over their delicious afternoon tea!'

Pam is the special guest at The Afternoon Tea Club at The Howard on Great King Street. Tickets for the event are priced at £29.95 and include a selection of sandwiches, home made scones, assortment of cakes and pastries and a 10 minute Tarot card reading.
