

Easter Street Fair

Ceilidh Culture Street Fair takes place from 6 – 9 April 2012

Castle Street/Princes Street, Edinburgh

Hand Up Media are delighted to announce this year's dates for Ceilidh Culture Street Fair, taking place in a massive marquee on Princes Street/ Castle Street in the heart of Edinburgh over Easter weekend. This high profile event platforms and promotes the very best of Scottish made crafts, fashion, jewellery, food and drinks and much more...

Last year's Ceilidh Culture Street Fair was a resounding success for exhibitors with over 20,000 visitors who soaked up the shopping experience, buying the best of Scottish gifts, crafts, art, fashion and jewellery whilst enjoying live music and delicious foods and drinks. This year's event will house around 20 selected exhibitors and a fabulous range of Scottish music, including none other than Phil Kay who entertained the crowds.

Ceilidh Culture Street Fair is part of the Ceilidh Culture Festival that is taking place for the eighth year. Filled with Scottish made crafts, fashion, jewellery, knitwear, music, food and drinks, this is a well organised, exciting and exhilarating event. Activities taking place during the Ceilidh Culture Street Fair will include; live music, shopping and delicious foods and drinks.

Ceilidh Culture Street Fair is a FREE public entry event.
