

Gypsy Queens busk for Sick Kids in Edinburgh

Usually their audience is made up of celebrities. They have played at many glittery parties on the French Riviera where they all live, entertaining many famous entertainers and actors, some of whom get up and sing with them.

Today The Gypsy Queens were busking at The Mound and raising money for The Sick Kids Friends Foundation in the process. The Reporter was invited along to meet them. (And yes girls they were all lovely!)

But they played all sorts of other music today too during their hour long set which the assembled crowd were very entertained by:-

listen to 'Stand by me by the Gypsy Queens ' on Audioboo

We met Rachel McKenzie who is Community Fundraising Manager for the SKFF and she was delighted that the group had come to play in the capital today:

listen to 'Rachel McKenzie of SKFF ' on Audioboo

Their latest music will be released on 5 November 2012 but you can pre-order it here.