

Train derailment on Dundee to Aberdeen line

A train has been derailed this morning at Inverkeilor on the Dundee to Aberdeen route.

Train services between Edinburgh and Aberdeen may be terminated at Dundee and restarted from Montrose at short notice. Scotrail say that resumption of normal services will be provided as soon as the problem has been fully assessed but for the meantime replacement transport will operate from Dundee to Aberdeen.

They also report:-“Passengers are advised that journey times will be extended and should allow extra time for their journey and any onward connections cannot be guaranteed.”

Here is how the story unfolded on Twitter:-

[\[View the story “Sunday morning train derailment ” on Storify\]](#)