'Considering Design as a Placemaking Solution for Liveable Cities'

Copenhagenize.com started in 2007, highlighting the cycling life in Copenhagen. Forty years ago Copenhagen was just as car-clogged as anywhere else, but now many of the population arriving at work or education do so on bicycles, from all over the Metro area. They all use over 1000 km of bicycle lanes in Greater Copenhagen for their journeys. Copenhagenizing is possible anywhere.

To win the tickets answer this question:- What percentage of the population arriving at work or education do so on bicycles, from all over the Copenhagen Metro area?
