

Edinburgh Festival Fringe – Eugenie Grandet

Assembly One, George Square 2 – 26 August @ 1.00PM

Eugenie Grandet an adaptation of Balzac's classic story of love, greed and betrayal, will play the Edinburgh Festival Fringe in 2013, at Assembly One George Square from 2 – 26 August. This will be the first ever stage production in English of this French classic.

Eugénie's dull, unaffected life is changed forever by the arrival of the bold and beautiful Charles. But her miser father has other plans for his prize possession. Will love conquer all?
