

Edinburgh Festival Fringe – Lee Kern's Bitter Twitter

 LEE KERN'S BITTER TWITTER

Sportsman, Gilded Balloon 31 July – 26 August @ 8.15pm (not 12th)

For information on tickets click here

Creator of C4's Celebrity Bedlam, Lee Kern's hilarious new stand-up show is a timely blitz on the world of twitter celebs. Smart, stupid, silly – Kern's mission to invade celebrity twitter cliques is as funny and absurd as some of the tweets sent by these twitter celebs with all the fame – but no shame.

Whether you think Twitter is a place where people talk about what sandwiches they've had for lunch – (it is) – or whether you think it's a way to get juicy insight into the mind of celebs – (it is) – this is the show for you. Twitter-philes and twitter-sceptics will adore this show that takes apart the social network of our times with gleeful abandon. From "Lord" Alan Sugar spending most of his time on twitter calling people "scum" – to Spice Girl, Geri Halliwell using her twitter account to demand world peace – Lee throws himself right into the thick of it – tweet deep into a world where celebs constantly broadcast their thoughts – even when they don't have any. Some of the interactions will make you weep with laughter...

Follow @lee_kern to join in now...