

Edinburgh Festival Fringe – Luke Benson – Legendary Feet

✖ Luke Benson – Legendary Feet, Pleasance This, 31 July to 25 August (except 13) 9:45pm, £7-10

He's scaled the mountains, he's assaulted the course, now for the show.

What is a legend? Did he mean to spell it "feat"? Expect those questions answered and more in this highly anticipated show. Behold a joke-filled hour looking at myths, marvels and mortals.

The Geordie Giant spent the last year climbing mountains, walking too far and testing his mettle, in preparation for his biggest feat – a return to the festival.

The acclaimed comedian has been taking on Strong Man events, military obstacle courses, extreme(ly silly) walks, World Records and climbing mountains.

This extreme research will culminate in a stand-up show all about how we puny humans do or do not compare to legends and myths worshipped in days of old, as well as testing how far the human body can go.