

Missing man found safe and well

Police Scotland has confirmed that a man who was reported missing in Edinburgh yesterday morning has been traced safe and well.

Stuart Ferguson was found around one mile from the Western General Hospital this evening.

The public are thanked for their assistance with this enquiry.