

Edinburgh Macmillan Art Exhibition 2013

Edinburgh's Macmillan Art Exhibition is taking a new look at Scotland's landscape art in the forthcoming show 'Art of Nature' from 21-24 November at Bonhams, 22 Queen Street.

The theme 'Natural Scotland' is being celebrated by over 100 artists, from recent graduates to established artists and in a wide variety of media. Final year students from the jewellery department of Edinburgh College of Art will be presenting new designs on the theme and two free talks will be delivered by noted experts Susanna Beaumont and Bill Hare.

All works are for sale with profits going directly to help people with cancer. To see some of the artworks, and for information visit <http://www.macmillanartshow.org>
