

Harbourside Development in Leith taking shape

CALA MOVES FORWARD WITH EXCITING HARBOURSIDE DEVELOPMENT IN LEITH

CALA Homes is moving forward with an exciting waterside development, Albert Dock at Ocean Drive in Leith, Edinburgh.

Work is now underway on 31 spacious three and four bedroom townhouses located close to Leith's popular Shore area and the Ocean Terminal shopping centre.

The development has been carefully designed to be in keeping with the surrounding area, creating a genuine sense of community. Public access to the dockside has been retained, and each home will have a private decking space and car-parking for two vehicles.

Inside, each home has been designed to maximise light and space, with flexible living areas and generous window space making the most of the development's attractive location.

Looking forward to the development taking shape, Sarah Stanger, Sales and Marketing Director at CALA Homes (East), says: "Situated in Edinburgh's vibrant Shore area in Leith and inspired by the local industrial heritage, Albert Dock at Ocean Drive is already attracting a lot of interest from buyers seeking something a little different from the city's harbour-side development.

“We are creating a low density development that fits in naturally with its waterside location. As well as creating its own distinct community, Ocean Drive is also at the heart of The Shore's bustling collection of stylish bars and top restaurants – and top-class shopping and entertainment at Ocean Terminal.”

Ocean Drive is due to be launched in early 2014 – for more information, call 01324 600 220 or visit www.cala.co.uk.
