

Fire at Granary in Leith

A fire was reported last night about 7:00pm and required assistance from about 30 firefighters at the height of the blaze.

The first photo came from Live Edinburgh News

Fire rips through Granary Pub in Leith <http://t.co/2MKyerypFq>

– Live Edinburgh News (@TheEdinburgNews) December 21, 2013

No casualties reported, still on scene. “@chrism_scotland: Fire at the Granary #Leith hope everyone’s Ok! #Edinburgh pic.twitter.com/NOwsGJNtbz”

– Scottish Fire – East (@scotfire_east) December 21, 2013

Fire appliances from McDonald Road, Crewe Toll, Marionville (including two height appliances) and a Command Support Unit from Dunfermline went to the restaurant and discovered a fire in the kitchen had spread to the roof space which was well alight.

Eight firefighters in breathing apparatus used high pressure hose reels to tackle the fire which was also fought from above using height platforms to reach the roof area which had caught fire.

No casualties were reported although crews had to work in challenging weather conditions for around two hours.

Roads closures were put in place by police to allow the fire services to deal with the fire.

The Granary reports on Twitter this morning that the restaurant is fine.

The Granary would like to thank everyone for there kindness tonight! We are all safe and well a massive THANKYOU ☐

– The Granary (@GranaryLeith) December 21, 2013

@scotfire_east Thankyou so much for all of your amazing work tonight and ongoing through tonight! From ALL of us at the @GranaryLeith

– The Granary (@GranaryLeith) December 22, 2013

Fire service still at The Granary in #Leith this morning.
pic.twitter.com/uJlQYwsVLw

– Richard Dixon (@Richard_Dixon) December 22, 2013