

Five things you need to know today

Something Christmassy to do today – Happy Holidays in Portobello – Where are you going to be on Hogmanay? – Edinburgh singer songwriter Daniel Scott – East Coast during the Festive Season

This afternoon at 2:00pm take some time out to go and see It's a Wonderful Life at the Cameo.

Booking details here, but here is a flavour of what you will be missing if you don't manage to get along!

***

In Regent Street in Portobello there is a light display on show there this Christmas.

Here is a little taster:-

jr tattoo from pixelmechanic on Vimeo.

***

Only a week or so till Hogmanay. Here is one suggestion if you have no plans made as yet....

***

If you haven't already heard of Edinburgh's singer songwriter Daniel Scott then you're in for a treat! Here is his latest YouTube video which is a cover of a Paul McCartney number.

***

East Coast are running trains up and down to London during the festive period except for Christmas Day and Boxing Day when their staff get some time off. They have a very comprehensive information page with all the details about ticketing and luggage here.

Remember that if you are travelling to London you don't have to struggle all the way with your suitcases. East Coast have a luggage check-in service which allows you to put your case in the luggage van and collect it again at King's Cross.

