

Five things you need to know today

Entry for Edinburgh Marathon closes today! – Breakfast – Silver Fox Day on the Big Wheel – The cost of getting fit this year – At Edinburgh Museum today

If you are so minded then you still have time to enter for the Edinburgh Marathon. Council Leader Andrew Burns has declared his entry and has already been training for around six months. Entries close here at 5pm. Are you entering? Do tell us how your training is coming along!

As this is possibly your last non-work day before it all starts over again on Monday we hope you may have had time to have a special breakfast. If you did then please share it with us (photographically speaking!).

Please add photos of your breakfast here on EdinburghReportage

 With forecasts of bad weather all around us, the Star Flyer and Big Wheel have been temporarily closed this morning due to high winds.

Check on Edinburgh's Christmas Facebook page here for updates, but when it does reopen if you are over 75 then you can get on these rides for free!

Edinburgh Leisure has a variety of ways for you to pay for gym membership or swimming in one of the pools across the city.

Full details of the membership options are here.

For those of you with little people to entertain today or just a suggestion for something to do indoors, there is an exhibition at the Museum of Edinburgh which tells the story of the city from pre-history to the present day. More details here.
