

Edinburgh Rugby look for further success at Meggetland

Edinburgh Rugby return to Meggetland on 11 April to match up against Cardiff Blues (kick off 7.45pm) With a win already against Ospreys at Meggetland, Edinburgh will be keen for the Local Community and 'Black and Red' Supporters to replicate the atmosphere once more and get behind the local boys.

Edinburgh Rugby managing director, David Davies, said: "Everyone at the club is really excited about this return to Meggetland.

"Pre-sales and season ticket memberships mean that the ground is already at 55% of capacity, so we urge all fans to buy their tickets early and guarantee their place at this great opportunity to cheer on the club at close quarters.

Reaction from Edinburgh Rugby supporters after the Osprey's game was very positive with fans taking to social media saying how great the atmosphere felt at Meggetland.

Director of Marketing at Boroughmuir, Justin Tito said:- "We are so pleased Edinburgh Rugby and supporters enjoyed Meggetland last month. To help host another Edinburgh game at our venue is just a great opportunity for our community to experience Edinburgh Rugby at it's best."

"The game against Ospreys gave a new section of the community the opportunity to experience top class Scottish rugby and we were very encouraged to hear how positive their first experience was."

Edinburgh currently sit in eighth position in the Pro12 table, with Cardiff following two places behind in 10th.
