

Appeal to identify man found unconscious in bookmakers

Police Scotland is appealing for assistance in identifying a man who was found unconscious within the toilets of a bookmakers in Edinburgh at the weekend.

The man was discovered by a member of staff at a bookies in Piersfield Terrace at around 7.20pm on Saturday 10th May. He was transferred to the Edinburgh Royal Infirmary and remains in a critical but stable condition.

The male is described as white, 35-40 years of age, approx 5ft 10in tall, heavy build, unshaven, and with short receding brown hair. He was wearing a black, waist-length jacket, a white, blue and purple checked shirt, grey jogging bottoms, blue Adidas trainers and carrying a black rucksack.

He has "CLH: H" tattooed on his right upper arm and a scar on his right hand.

Anyone who thinks they may have some information regarding the man's identity are asked to contact Police Scotland on 101