

Concern for missing Fife man

Police officers in Fife are becoming increasingly concerned for the welfare of a High Valleyfield man, who may have been missing since Saturday lunch-time.

Ashley Duncan, 51, was reported missing after he failed to turn up for work this morning, and last seen in the village at 12 Noon yesterday (Saturday).

He may have driven off in a white Citroen C1 motor car which is signwritten on both sides with "DJ Ash" logos.

Sergeant Tracy Moffat, who is leading the search, said: "Ashley is considered vulnerable, and we are very keen to trace him and reunite him with his family, so I am appealing to anyone who knows where he is, or has seen him since Saturday lunchtime, to call Police Scotland on 101 or through Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111."
