

The City of Edinburgh Council meeting 26 June 2014

Today's meeting of the council is split into two distinct parts, one to deal with the Mortonhall babies ashes matter and the other to deal with normal business.

The Lord Provost is to mark the solemnity of the meeting with the lighting of a candle before proceedings begin.

The Edinburgh Reporter will be following proceedings live from the floor of the city chambers.