

Edinburgh Festival Fringe – Portrait Femme Unveiled

✖ One of the youngest companies at this years fringe! Curet Performance Project in their second year and part of this year's NYC Dance Week Festival journey over from the Big Apple to bring you film, movement and the femme all in one form: DANCE.

Portrait Femme Unveiled embarks on a journey into the inner landscape of the female identity. As the show progresses we travel with the performers through dance work onstage and on film. Each playing an equal part of the show's connection to both worlds on stage and off.

Curet Performance Project is one of the youngest emerging dance companies on the New York City dance scene. Coming out of their second year together and season at Triskelion Arts in Brooklyn, they are primarily known for creating and performing provocative works that inspire and entice. In Portrait Femme Unveiled specifically, striving to bring light on all the elements of the inner workings of the female being. Using dance and media to come to one conclusion, no one woman is the same but all women embody the same avenues: Love, Faith, Loss, Fear and Hope.
