

VIDEO – Protest for Palestine march

Local MSP Malcolm Chisholm and Aamer Anwar the leading Scottish advocate with a particular interest in human rights attended the protest in Edinburgh's city centre earlier, but there were many ordinary people there too.

We asked Mick Napier Secretary of the Scottish Palestine Solidarity Campaign why the organisers felt this march was necessary which he explains in our video report. There was no one group protesting today, rather a collection of different people who all felt moved enough to come along.

