

Home improvement ideas

Time to Invest in a Veranda!

Installing a veranda in your garden allows you to enjoy the great outdoors all year round. Opt for an established provider such as 123v, who are experts in the design and installation of verandas, car ports and canopies, and you'll have a versatile, attractive addition to your home that can not only help you to enjoy some fresh air when the weather's not so good, but can also add thousands to the value of your property.

Verandas come in all shapes and sizes, and yours can be designed to fit in with the look and feel of your property, with optional extras such as stereo speakers, roof glazing, blinds, LED lights and more. With such a wealth of options available, there's a veranda for everybody. Need further convincing? Here are just a few examples of how you can benefit from installing a veranda:

You're having a delicious family picnic in the garden. The kids are enjoying the fresh air and are getting plenty of exercise playing outdoors – much more than they would vegetating in front of the television – and you're spending quality time together. But bad news: the heavens have opened and it's started to rain. Adding a veranda to your home means you don't have to cut your picnic short. Just move underneath your veranda and you and your family can continue to enjoy the benefits of the great outdoors.

It's a glorious sunny day, and you want to enjoy a good book outdoors – but it's simply too hot. Rather than spend a sunny day indoors for fear of burning, have a glass veranda installed. A veranda's glass roof absorbs most of the sun's harmful UV rays, meaning you can enjoy the warm weather outdoors without the fear of being burnt.

You want to add extra space to your home, but an extension is prohibitively expensive. In addition to being expensive, extensions can sometimes look 'too new' – an old cottage, for example, would lose some of its charm with a jarring extension made with modern, clean-looking brickwork added to it. With a veranda, neither of these issues needs be a problem. For a fraction of the price of an extension, you can open up additional space in your home in a way that fits with its current look.

All of the benefits of a veranda are too numerous to be listed here. Discover them for yourself by getting in touch with an experienced manufacturer of cantilever and traditional glass verandas such as 123v. Thanks to them, thousands across Scotland and the rest of the UK have already had their home transformed with the addition of a stunning veranda.

Featured article