

Hallowe'en – Take a witch tour at Greyfriar's

Edinburgh Choreographic Project presents Witch Tour of Greyfriars Kirk and the dance performance of "The Confession of Isobel Gowdie" by Royston Maldoom

The witch tour will start outside Dance Base in the Grassmarket and will include the areas of the Grassmarket and the Greyfriar's Churchyard.

Experienced guides will take you on a tour through Edinburgh's magical Old Town with stories including tales of torture, murder, executions, witches and body-snatchers.

Following the tour there will be a dance performance with choreography by the international choreographer Royston Maldoom

"The Confession of Isobel Gowdie"

Choreography: Royston Maldoom

Music: James MacMillan CBE

Set to Scottish composer James MacMillan's dynamic score 'The Confession of Isobel Gowdie', is dedicated to the memory of the last woman to stand trial for witchcraft in Scotland in 1662. Royston's choreography is a fantasy, honouring the many women who have been and are persecuted for being perceived as a threat to the religious and political establishment worldwide.

This work was first created by Royston for Tumbuka Dance Company, Zimbabwe, and recreated on Aura Dance Theatre, Lithuania.

Tour & Performance Price: 13.00 GBP/10.00 GBP
