

Witness appeal following serious assault in Moredunvale

Police are appealing for witnesses following a serious assault in Moredunvale on Saturday evening.

The incident happened around 9.30pm during a party at a property on Moredunvale View when a 16 boy received an injury to his neck. He was taken to ERI and the scene was secured while police investigated the circumstances.

Police are now appealing for any witnesses who may have information that can assist with enquiries.

Detective Constable John McShane said: "This assault happened on Saturday night on Moredunvale View during a party attended by a number of youths. While the 16 year old was not seriously injured, he is likely to have permanent scarring. There was noise at the street at the time, and we will hope this will jog people's memories who may have information that can assist."

Those with information can contact Police Scotland on 101 or alternatively, the charity Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.
