

Police appeal to trace Livingston man

Police in Livingston are appealing for information to help trace a missing man.

Scott Rushford, from Briarbank in Ladywell was last seen in the area at 13:30pm on Saturday afternoon (October 25). However, the 33-year-old, who lives with a number of health issues, has not made contact with anyone since this time.

Scott is described as white, 6ft 4" in height with a slim build and short brown hair. He is believed to be wearing either a beige Timberland t-shirt or a black Ben Sherman t-shirt with a Union Jack on front.

Officers believe he may be in either the Edinburgh or Livingston areas and anyone with information should contact Police Scotland immediately on 101 or anonymously through Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.
