

Acoustic gig to raise funds for Radio Forth's Cash for Kids

A great night of acoustic music will take place at Edinburgh's Electric Circus, on 21 February 2015 in aid of children's charity Cash For Kids.

Julia Hall, a music business student at Perth College UHI, hopes that with the support of her fellow students, friends and family, she will raise around £500 for Cash For Kids.

Julia said, "I am excited to be putting on a gig in aid of Cash For Kids. Knowing the money I raise will be used to improve the lives of vulnerable children locally is the best part of it all. I'm putting on this event for Cash For Kids because I really believe in their cause. The charity helps children in the local area. Cash For Kids make a real difference to the lives of the children and families they work with."

The gig will feature the best Edinburgh talent, The Rising Souls will be headlining this gig, for the last year Edinburgh based 3 piece The Rising Souls have been performing great gigs with an absorbing presence and were praised widely at the Edinburgh Festival and further afield. Support will also come from local singer-songwriters Ross Arthur and Megan D.

Tickets for this event are available on Skiddle for £8, or £4 for concessions (excluding booking fees).
