

Royal visit to The Erskine Edinburgh Home at Gilmerton

The Princess Royal paid a return visit to the Erskine Home at Gilmerton today to declare a corridor open!

She had already officially opened the two parts of the building in years past, and now came back to see the link corridor and unveil a commemorative plaque.

Her Royal Highness spent over two hours speaking to residents and meeting staff and families.

The Edinburgh Reporter was able to get exclusive access to film the visit and interview the CEO of Erskine Hospital and the Lord Lieutenant of the City of Edinburgh who welcomed the Royal visitor again today.
