

Brotique have no more ties!

✘ The Brotique X Walker Slater Edinburgh Fashion Week ties sell out after just 48 hours

Independent Edinburgh based gentlemen's stores, The Brotique and Walker Slater, recently collaborated on a selection of tweed ties for Edinburgh Fashion Week. Since the initial launch on Friday 13th at an in-store event, the collection of three co-designed ties have sold out, creating demand to speed through a second run of the limited edition collaboration.

With extremely limited numbers and three separate styles to choose from, the Edinburgh Fashion Week tie was designed by The Brotique director, Richard Murphy and Walker Slater designer Vixy Ray. Using three separate styles of tweed and coordinating silk backing, each style was designed with versatility in mind so it can look great with everything from denim to a full blown suit.

Available in rust check, green herringbone and blue herringbone – The Brotique x Walker Slater ties are beautifully made classics celebrating design, heritage, and Edinburgh style. Retailing at £35 a pop, the next collection drop is not expected to last long, grab a piece of history while you still can.

The Brotique X Walker Slater tie is available instore and online.

Submitted by Sheri Scott

