

Five things you need to know today

Student housing

Calling foul on the football pitch

Padel Tennis

Road closure

Libraries closing on Sundays from beginning of April

Another site in Edinburgh has been sold for student housing, but this one is right next to the university. The council has sold a site at Potterrow to Macdonald Estates who will pay £2.92m and will develop the site into 52 student units and a common room.

The sale should be approved later this morning when the Finance and Resources Committee meets. Forgive us we have not read all the papers. There are 459 pages of reports and agenda items.

You can watch the committee meeting live online by clicking here.

Post by AC Oxfangs FC.

Edinburgh Sports Club, which boasts Scotland's only Padel Tennis court kickstarts the season with a free family open weekend on 28th and 29th March, from 1pm – 5pm and the launch of an Open Schools Rackets Programme.

The Open Weekend at the Club, which is situated in the heart of Edinburgh's West End next to the Water of Leith World Heritage site, is designed to raise awareness of Padel Tennis by giving everyone the chance to come down and give it a shot.

Read more here

Historic Scotland have reported that Holyrood Park road between Duddingston Village and Holyrood Park Road, referred to locally as the Low Road, will be closed to all traffic from Saturday 21 March until Tuesday 24 March for essential resurfacing work.

Some libraries across the city are changing their opening hours and it seems that most of the changes affect Sunday openings.

Those making changes include the libraries at Corstorphine, Granton, Kirkliston, McDonald Road, Muirhouse, Newington, Oxgangs, Piershill, Portobello, Sighthill and Wester Hailes

How will this affect you? Do you use the library on Sundays?

Sign up here for a daily email from The Edinburgh Reporter !
[mc4wp_form]

If you are reading this article on paper and would like to visit the website then scan the QR code above with a smartphone or tablet and you will be taken straight there.