

Mark Thomas returning to make the capital laugh

Following a total sell-out Fringe run last year, one of comedy's elder statesmen and all-round arty mischief-maker Mark Thomas returns to the capital with his comedy of betrayal, back at the Traverse Theatre 15th-18th April.

Mark tells his true story of how Britain's biggest arms manufacturer, BAE Systems, came to spy on a comedian in this highly critically acclaimed tale of hubris, planes, demos and undercover deceit.

Alongside the countless 4 and 5 star reviews, Cuckooed not only won Mark his second Scotsman Fringe First award but also the Amnesty International Freedom of Expression Award which is given to an outstanding Fringe production carrying a human rights message.

Tickets available here

