

It's polling day!

So today's the day. In 59 constituencies across Scotland it is expected that record numbers of voters will cast their vote for the party of their choice.

The run up has been tortuous and long, but finally we all get to have our say and after 10pm tonight you can follow our live coverage of the General Election 2015 count from Edinburgh's EICC which you will find here.

Watch our time lapse of how the room in the EICC was set up for the Edinburgh count which will take place tonight from 10pm!

Your polling place will be on your card which was probably delivered a couple of weeks back.

If you still can't make your mind up then we interviewed as many of the candidates as we could get to speak to us.

You can see these on Vimeo and YouTube.
