

TERLive! General Election 2015 Results from Edinburgh

The SNP are predicted to get more MPs elected to Westminster than ever before. We all know this is the prediction of almost every poll in the run up to the election 2015, but no-one will know how many seats until the votes are counted. The Edinburgh Reporter is here at the EICC where the Edinburgh Count will take place and we expect the results around 4:00am. Get involved in the chat, tell us what you think! Your comments will be moderated and may not appear immediately but you can also tweet using the hashtag #edincount to get into our timeline below.