

Five things you need to know today

Edinburgh Playday

Bailey on....Warhol

Rhino Birthday Party

The Dougie Maclean Project

Stewart's Melville RFC

This Wednesday you can bring your little ones to the Grassmarket and let them run wild.

Edinburgh Playday is an open access, family friendly event with simple play activities in an exciting environment. Playday 2015 will be on Wednesday 29th July and is open to the public from 12:30 – 4:30pm right in the centre of the Grassmarket.

David Bailey's exhibition Stardust has just opened at the National Gallery of Scotland. It is a fabulous collection of images he has created since the 1960s including some of Andy Warhol. Tonight at the Hawthornden Lecture Theatre the film Bailey on....Warhol will be screened at 6:00pm. Free and unticketed.

This is a documentary made in 1973 which was originally banned on indecency grounds. The film will be introduced by Dr Glyn Davis of University of Edinburgh.

This is one of the many events in our What's on listing this week. If you have any events to add to it then please get in touch!

How do you celebrate a rhinoceros's birthday? Well here is how they did it at Edinburgh Zoo!

The Dougie Maclean Project is coming to The Queen's Hall next month.

Get your tickets here and listen to him by clicking on the video below!

At Stewart's Melville RFC the first official match day lunch is on Saturday 12 September v Edinburgh Accies FC (ko 3pm)

Hospitality will start at 12 noon and will consist of 2 courses, match ticket, programme and parking and is only £20 pp!

To book email lindseygeddes@gmail.com

Sign up here for a daily email from The Edinburgh Reporter !
[mc4wp_form]

If you are reading this article on paper and would like to visit the website then scan the QR code above with a smartphone or tablet and you will be taken straight there.